Mathematics

Code Breaking

Try your hand at code breaking with the maths department. You can learn about how famous civilisations and cultures, such as the Roman's and the Freemason's used to write messages to one another in the past. Can you break their codes?

Find out how to write secret codes of your own using their patterns or even create your own secret code.

Classroom activities

We can also provide you with a unit of Mathematics work to bridge the gap from Primary to Secondary. This unit will focus on the basics of algebra, preparing the learners for Mathematics at Carleton Community High School. A Carleton High School maths teacher may be available to come to your school to start the bridging unit. Please send any completed work to Carleton High School before the end of the Summer term if possible as it may be mounted on a wall within the Mathematics Department.
